Resubmission of our joint manuscript improved by Royal Proofreader

Dear Prof EricLEE,

From the bottom of my heart, We apologize to you and your editor because the manuscript you receive from us has not revised or improved by any proofreader. However just few minutes ago we find the result of one "Proofreading called as The Royal Proofreader which usually I ask his service, besides Proofreading Service Com. Therefore we apply your mercy if we resubmit our joint manuscript which has already been improved by the Royal Proofreader the editor of which is called Ms Jennifer. Excuse me Prof Eric and all the editors of the journal for our mistake. Let me say many thanks for your kind attention and understanding. God Bless You.

Warmest Regards,

Dear authors:

We feel regret to stop reviewing your paper from page number 5 because your current draft is not enough to be published.

In the file attached (20201012), you can find many basic grammatical errors which are even elementary level (the international law) and logical jumpings which does not make sense.

I doubt if you really got English proofreading from a professional English reviewer. Each line of your writing is messy and inappropriate. Even you did not check the most popular meaning of ICT which is Information & Communication Technology. You refer to information, communication and technology which means the authors of Cyber... never checked such an important definition.

I am very much disappointed with your writing. Also, we inform you that the Journal does not go further for publication with the current manuscript. The publication fee will be refunded except for the bank transwiring fee.
