Comments from the Editors and Reviewers:
The reviewer has identified a serious technical problem of your study. We would like to provide an opportunity to you to address this issue. Lp-PLA2 elevates with obesity and leads to a higher risk of cardiovascular diseases. The authors want to evaluate the association of glucose, lipid profiles and blood pressure with Lp-PLA2. This is an interesting and worthy of investigation. However, the Lp-PLA2 circulating level (17.61 ± 18.26 ng/ml) of this manuscript is very low compared with publications. It was reported that the baseline of Lp-PLA2 is from 127.66 ± 2.67 to 253.50 ± 202.31 ng/ml (Scientific Reports volume 6: 33073, 2016). Lp-PLA2 has been consistently higher among the type 2 diabetics than non-diabetics (Diabetologia, 54: 329-333, 2011; J. Cell. Mol. Med, 6: 643-647, 2002.). It is not sure if this is a typing error or an experimental error. Lp-PLA2 is the key value in this manuscript, I can get re-review if the authors can clarify the issue.

Data in Brief (optional):
We invite you to convert your supplementary data (or a part of it) into an additional journal publication in Data in Brief, a multi-disciplinary open access journal. Data in Brief articles are a fantastic way to describe supplementary data and associated metadata, or full raw datasets deposited in an external repository, which are otherwise unnoticed. A Data in Brief article (which will be reviewed, formatted, indexed, and given a DOI) will make your data easier to find, reproduce, and cite.
You can submit to Data in Brief when you upload your revised manuscript. To do so, complete the template and follow the co-submission instructions found here: www.elsevier.com/dib-template. If your manuscript is accepted, your Data in Brief submission will automatically be transferred to Data in Brief for editorial review and publication.
