Dear Dr Erfina,

Thank you for sending your manuscript Becoming an adolescent mother: the experiences of young Indonesian new mothers living with their extended families for consideration to Midwifery. Please accept this message as confirmation of your submission.

When should I expect to receive the Editor's decision?
We publicly share the average editorial times for Midwifery to give you an indication of when you can expect to receive the Editor's decision. These can viewed here: http://journalsights.elsevier.com/journals/0266-6138/review_speed

What happens next?
Here are the steps that you can expect as your manuscript progresses through the editorial process in the Editorial Manager (EM).

1. First, your manuscript will be assigned to an Editor and you will be sent a unique reference number that you can use to track it throughout the process. During this stage, the status in EM will be "With Editor".
2. If your manuscript matches the scope and satisfies the criteria of Midwifery, the Editor will identify and contact reviewers who are acknowledged experts in the field. Since peer-review is a voluntary service, it can take some time but please be assured that the Editor will regularly remind reviewers if they do not reply in a timely manner. During this stage, the status will appear as "Under Review".

Once the Editor has received the minimum number of expert reviews, the status will change to "Required Reviews Complete".

3. It is also possible that the Editor may decide that your manuscript does not meet the journal criteria or scope and that it should not be considered further. In this case, the Editor will immediately notify you that the manuscript has been rejected and may recommend a more suitable journal.

For a more detailed description of the editorial process, please see Paper Lifecycle from Submission to Publication: http://help.elsevier.com/app/answers/detail/a_id/160/n/8045/

How can I track the progress of my submission?
You can track the status of your submission at any time at <https://www.editorialmanager.com/YMIDW>

Dear Dr Erfina

I am pleased to inform you that the status of your submission has now progressed to: 'Required reviews complete'.

This status means that I have received the minimum number of required reviews, which I will now evaluate in order to make a decision on your paper.

If the current reviews conflict with one another or are not detailed enough, I may need to seek the opinion of another reviewer to make a fair and informed conclusion about your paper. For this reason the status of your paper may change back to 'under review' for a short period of time.

As soon as the final editor's decision can be made, you will be notified via email.

I appreciate your understanding of the time required to provide you with a thorough decision and comments on your submission.

Kind regards,

Midwifery

Dear Dr Erfina Erfina,

I am pleased to inform you that your paper "Becoming an adolescent mother: the experiences of young Indonesian new mothers living with their extended families" has been accepted for publication in Midwifery.

It will now be transferred to our production department and work will begin on creation of the proof. If we need any additional information to create the proof, we will let you know. If not, you will be contacted again in the next few days with a request to approve the proof and to complete a number of online forms that are required for publication.

Please note that it is a requirement of publishing a paper in Midwifery that authors make themselves available to review at least one paper if and when requested by an Editor.

To that end, if it is not already the case, please update your profile on EM so that you are listed as available to act as a reviewer. Please also ensure that your keywords and classifications are correct so that we can send you papers matching your areas of expertise.

In addition, if you are active on social media, you may want to Tweet details of your article as soon as it is published and link to the Midwifery journal Twitter account @MidwiferyJnl.

Thank you for submitting your work to Midwifery.

Yours sincerely,
