Dear Dr. Rifai:

Thank you for submitting your revised manuscript entitled "Synthesis, Molecular Mechanism and Pharmacokinetic Studies of New Epoxy Lignan-based Derivatives" to the Archiv der Pharmazie. It is a pleasure to accept your manuscript in its current form for publication.

Collection of Copyright Transfer Agreement (CTA) form: Your article cannot be published until the publisher has received the appropriate signed license agreement. Within the next few days the corresponding author will receive an email from Wileys Author Services system which will ask them to log in and will present them with the appropriate license for completion.

Important: OnlineOpen

If you require OnlineOpen of your manuscript (see below regarding this service), please complete the order form as follows:

The order form will ask you to enter the article tracking number of the funded access (OnlineOpen) article. This can be derived from the manuscript ID found in the subject line of this email. Please omit the hyphens as well as any existing extension, i.e. R1, R2 etc, and place this after DOI 10.1002/ardp. when entering the number into the form sheet. For example, the article tracking number for manuscript ardp.201300143.R2 is DOI 10.1002/ardp.201300143.

Please visit our Author Services website at <http://authorservices.wiley.com/default.asp>. After registration, you will have the opportunity to download a PDF file of your manuscript for free, as soon as it is available.

Please also visit <http://exchanges.wiley.com/authors/promo>. Here you will find seven promotional tools to help ensure that your work gets seen, read and cited.

Thank you for your contribution.

Sincerely,

Prof. Holger Stark
Editor-in-Chief, Archiv der Pharmazie

Information regarding funded access:

John Wiley & Sons, Inc. is now offering a OnlineOpen service for authors of journal articles whose funding agency requires deposit of an article in an archive. Authors have the option of paying a fee to ensure that their articles are available to non-subscribers upon publication via Wiley Online Library (<http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com>), Wiley's online publishing platform, as well as the author's funding agency's preferred archive if applicable.

OnlineOpen is available for the Archiv der Pharmazie and many other Wiley-Blackwell journals. Only authors of primary research articles qualify for this service. Wiley will deposit the final PDF of the article into the funder's archive; this is the final, authoritative version of the article after peer review, editing, any final corrections, online and print formatting, and publication. The fee for ensuring articles are made available through the funded access program is $3,000 USD per article.

Authors who are interested in finding out more about this service, or who wish to include their article in the funded access program, are asked to go to <http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthor/onlineopen.asp> for further information.

Dear Dr Yusnita Rifai,

Journal: Archiv der Pharmazie

Article title: "Synthesis, Molecular Mechanism and Pharmacokinetic Studies of New Epoxy Lignan-Based Derivatives"

ACTION REQUIRED:

Your article has been received by our production department. Please log into Author Services and sign your licence agreement. Failure to do so may result in a delay of your article's publication.

Note to Contributors on Deposit of Accepted Version:

Certain funders, including the NIH, members of the Research Councils UK (RCUK) and Wellcome Trust, require deposit of the Accepted Version in a repository after an embargo period.

Upon online publication, as corresponding author, you'll gain free access to the PDF file of the final, published article. To access the PDF, you must register at our Wiley Author Services website.

By visiting Author Services and registering now, you will also be able to enjoy the following additional benefits:

- Track the progress of your article through the production process
- Receive publication status alerts
- Enable production-tracking for all co-authors
- Enjoy a 25% discount on Wiley books
- Make your article Open Access with OnlineOpen

Future benefits will provide exciting new features for registered articles.

To register at Wiley Author Services and have your article automatically added to your account, go to:

<http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthor/addart.asp?articleid=7880527%2D1681225>

If you have already registered with Author Services simply select the URL above and log in using your e-mail address and password. Use the "Add Article" feature to add this article to your profile; the Unique ID for this article is: 7880527-1681225. Your username is the e-mail you used to register.

OnlineOpen - Open Access Option

Make your article free for all to read, download, and share through OnlineOpen. This increases the potential audience for your article, which can translate into: higher readership, increased citations and greater visibility of your work. How? You, or your funding agency or institution pays a fee of between US$2,000 and US$5,000 to make your article open access. Simply log into your Author Services account and click on the 'Make my article OnlineOpen' button next to your article. If you do not wish to use OnlineOpen and make your article open access you must still sign in to Author Services to sign the license agreement; we will publish your article in Archiv der Pharmazie and it will be available to paid subscribers.

IMPORTANT NOTES:

1. Only by logging into Author Services will you have access to the final PDF (electronic offprint) of your article.
2. The Author Services system is separate from the journal's manuscript and peer review system (e.g., ScholarOne Manuscripts) and requires a separate account.
3. Please don't forward this message to your co-authors; the Unique ID can only be used once. When you have added the article yourself, you'll be able to supply co-author details and Author Services will send individual alerts to each co-author. Wiley complies with the UK Data Protection Act and will not use the e-mail addresses for any other purpose. Each author registering has the chance to opt in for further messages or remain opted out.

4. If you have problems logging in or accessing the status of this article, please forward this message to cs-author@wiley.com.

We look forward to your joining our author community at Wiley.

Best wishes,

Wiley Author Services Team

Dear Dr. Rifai:

Manuscript # ardp.201600069 entitled "Synthesis, Molecular Mechanism and Pharmacokinetic Studies of New Epoxy Lignan-based Derivatives" which you submitted to the Archiv der Pharmazie has been reviewed. The comments of the referee(s) are included at the bottom of this letter.

A revised version of your manuscript that takes into account the comments of the referee(s) will be reconsidered for publication.

Please note that submitting a revision of your manuscript does not guarantee eventual acceptance, and that your revision may be subject to re-review by the referee(s) before a decision is rendered.

You can upload your revised manuscript as follows:

(a) You can use this direct link:
https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/archpharm?URL\_MASK=a3726f24f7584ab2916883f196023f2d

(b) Alternatively, log into <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/archpharm> and enter your Submitting Author Center, where you will find your manuscript title listed under "Manuscripts with Decisions." Click on "Create a revision" to start the process.

When submitting your revised manuscript, you will be able to respond to the comments made by the referee(s) in the space provided. You can use this space to document any changes you make to the original manuscript. Please review the attached document listing the file requirements for your revision.

IMPORTANT: We have your original files. When submitting (uploading) your revised manuscript, please delete the file(s) that you wish to replace and then upload the revised file(s).

Effective with the 2015 volume, the Archiv der Pharmazie will be published in an online-only format. No printed edition will be published. Your article will therefore appear online-only. All normal author benefits and services remain in place e.g. authors will continue to be able to order print reprints of articles if required. Furthermore, there will be no cost to authors for the publication of color images in the online-only edition. Please see the journals Author Guidelines for full details.

Once again, thank you for submitting your manuscript to the Archiv der Pharmazie and I look forward to receiving your revision.

Dear Yusnita Rifai,

For security and legal reasons we have moved to a more secure and encrypted process. We have adopted the so-called Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard (PCI DSS). This means that our billing system no longer accepts clear-text credit card information.

Instead please generate a so-called credit card token for your payment by using the credit card token generator at

https://www.wiley-vch.de/editorial\_production/index.php

Once you have done this, please forward your credit card token for this payment to me.

We regret this inconvenience and thank you for your help and understanding.
