Reviewer A:

An interesting study. To begin with, I would suggest changing the title of the article. In my opinion, it is not properly phrased as a "question".

Methodologically, the topic is properly processed. Appropriately chosen method of interpretation of conclusions. The results of the examination are correctly interpreted. The conclusions are clear, realistic. Language page and grammar page at the required level.

I recommend publishing after incorporating my comments.

Recommendation: Resubmit for Review

Reviewer B:

How are the concepts of Industrial Organization Theory (IO) and Resource Based View (RBV) theory derived in your study measurement model? The concept of Industrial Environment and Strategic Resources even measure the same indicators (6 dimensions presented by researchers?) Check the Review of Theory

The managerial implications presented from the IO theory are irrelevant, because they have not been derived since the literature review. What about the RBV theory (as the basis of your other theories?)

The research contribution is not in-depth / lacks a research contribution, because only descriptive analysis does not differentiate the types of SMEs products (this product has different market segments, so it will have a different strategy as well)

Many article references are out of date (> 60%)
