We have reached a decision regarding your submission to Biodiversitas Journal of Biological Diversity, "Rare grouper Epinephelus miliaris from market surveys in South Sulawesi, Indonesia".

Our decision is: Revisions Required

Reviewer E:

I consider one correction is necessary and suggest two minor edits:

1. On line 48, E. miliaris is not in italics.
 2. On line 56 it might be better to use E. miliaris instead of Epinephelus miliaris
 3. Lines 86 and 101: "One E. miliaris specimen" would be better than "One specimen of E. miliaris"
- Otherwise this short communication is well written and presented.

Recommendation: Revisions Required

Reviewer A:

Dear Authors,

Thank you for submitting this revised paper that investigates two new sightings of oily groupers from market surveys. This is an interesting study and while relatively limited data are available, the potential implications are considerable. The manuscript is well written and there are just a handful of edits required which I have documented on the word version of the paper. Please check out the citation style in the paper and bring in as much information as possible on the locations of the samples - could the fishermen help at all with this? These revisions should result in a more robust and repeatable paper overall.

Dear Editor,

Thank you for accepting and publishing our article : "Short Communication: Rare grouper Epinephelus miliaris from market surveys in South Sulawesi, Indonesia,"

I have just seen in the journal website, our article has been put in the recent archives Vol 23 No. 11 (2022), but it is a bit strange because although our article seems it is published in pdf format, but when we try to download the pdf file, we have got a word file instead of pdf file.

We need a clarification for this matter.

Thank you

Best Regards,

Nadiarti Nurdin Kadir
