Reviewer A:

This paper already has novelty and good contributions in accordance with the objectives. Introduction has well described gap analysis and research updates. The method is also good and systematic as illustrated in the flow chart. The discussion and interpretation have been well presented, but the making of tables is still not good. Fix the table according to the 2021 journal template, and the image quality should also be increased to 300 dpi. The conclusion served the purpose. Add terms to the section after conclusion according to the template.

This paper already has a good novelty and has adequate research contributions. Correct the title "Physical" with the correct writing, "Physical".

Improve the introduction by making the first paragraph containing a gap analysis. What part of the problem did you find with respect to ammonia-degrading bacteria and their effect in the presence of heavy metal Pb. How do you intervene in this research, both the interaction between heavy metals and the active site of ammonia-degrading bacteria. What will you find in this research, so that contributions and novelty can be well illustrated.

The method is complete and good, because the stages of research to determine the effect of heavy metals on the growth of ammonia-degrading bacteria have been described. Improve the method by making a flow chart so that the stages of the research can be seen systematically. Improve the Observation section of physical changes (section F) in the form of a measured observation table.

The results have provided a good picture. Give an explanation of the specific contribution of nutrients to the part that causes physical changes in plants or plant growth that occur. Improve picture 3, by displaying a snapshot of one part of a plant such as a leaf, and the size ratio between P1 and P2, so that you can see the differences in the results of the research you have done.

In conclusion, you add why heavy metals can affect the growth of the plants you studied.
